NEW CHWANG, March 5...There is every indication that the great Japanese movement for the envelopment of Mukden his so far met with overwhelming success, and that that stronghold of the Russians will prove another Sedan.

In the last few days little has been heard from the fighting along the strong-ly fortified central positions, and it is believed that the Japanese center is only required to hold its ground while the wings stretch far to the northward to circle the Russian flanks or threaten the ratius.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 6.—The Associated Press has just learned that General Kuropatkin has launched a blow at Marshal Oyama's left center just west of the railroad. The lighting is desperate along almost the entire line.
The Japanese army, according to prisoners, is greatly exhausted. They repeat the statement that some of General Nogl's men have not had any food for two days.

2:50 P. M.—The result of the great battle of modern times is expected to be determined to-day or to-morrow. Although General Kuropatkin has evidently made every preparation to cover his retreat by removing his accumulated stores and munitions northward, it is now the opinion of military men here that one side or the other cannot escape an overwhelming disaster. whelming disaster.
Field Marshal Oyama's strategy in this tattle is now clear. He startled and amazed the War Office by the marvelous amazed the War Office by the marvelous daring of General Kuroki's advance against the extreme Russlan left and the series of blows delivered at the center where no less than thirteen apparate attacks have been launched by the imperial guards ten miles east of Pouthoff Hill. But it is now realized that the heavy blows at the left were intended to make the real turning movement. to mask the real turning movement which came like a bolt from a clear sky which came like a bolt from a clear sky out of the west. Kuropatkin fell into the trap. The situation seemed an exact duplicate of that at Lizo-Yang and the Russian commander-in-chief hastened to mass forces to meet Kuroki. Friday the whole situation was suddenly reversed, when with lightning rapidity, the Japanese, turning operation began on the plain between the Hun and Liao Rivers. In prider to succeed Oyama threw the neutrality of China to the winds. General Nogl, with his Port Arthur veterans, moved up the right bank of the Hun and fell like an avalanche upon the weakened Russian right doubling it back in confusion, the Japanese advance being co-ofdinated with the advance straight from sion, the Japanese advance straight from nated with the advance straight from the west of a Japanese column of 40,000 men, which circled around or through Chinese neutral territory. At dawn yesterday the Japanese attacked the Russian positions near Obenepusa. The attackers were scarcely recognizable as valiant Japanese so mechanically did they move forward and, with undying persistence attack only to be thrown back. They repeated this at 10 in the morning after a preparatory artiflery bombardment and reached the Russian trenches, where a bayonet fight crisued. Mrs. Chadwick Suffers Nervous Collapse at Opening of Case.

ANDREW CARNEGIE ATTENDS SESSION

Twenty-Eight Witnesses Summoned by Government-Jury Secured Regarded as Good One for Defendant. Lawyers Make Opening Statements.

(By Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, OHIO, March 6—A complete nervous collapse by Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick brought the first day of her trial to an abrupt close this afternoon.

E. H. Halter, of Oberlin, the second witness called by the State, was on the stand, and had answered but two questions, when Mrs. Chadwick, who was very pille, whispered to her attorneys that she would be compelled to leave the room. She passed out quickly, and upon reaching the antercom sank into a chair in a faint. Two trained nurses, who were in the court room were hastly summoned, and in a few moments Mrs. Chadwick was revived. She was in no condition to return to the court room, however, and Judgo Taylor adjourned the trial until to-morrow morning.

An Exciting Day:

until to-morrow morning.

An Exciting Day.

It was an exciting day for Mrs. Chadwlek, and she took the keenest interest in all the proceedings. Seated close beside her attorneys, she scanned the face of every juror summoned, and Trequently oxpressed her opinion of them to her lawyers. In the afternoon, when District Attorney Sullivan outlined the case, he expects to prove against ner, Mrs. Chadwlek's eyes did not sleave his face for a second. She rested her chin in her hand, in the palm of which site held her lace handkerchief, and drank in every word uttered by Mr. Sullivan with the greatest anxiety. When he ceased speaking and her counsel, J. P. Dawley, rose to state her side of the case, her face brightened, and she followed him as engerly as she had listened to Mr. Sullivan, and apparatitis were beautiful.

her side of the case, her face brightened, and she followed, him as engerly as she had listened to Mr. Sullivan, and apparently with more pleasure.

The trial made rapid progress to-day. The jury was accepted within two hours, and this afternoon the opposing counsel outlined their cases, and the taking of testimony was commenced. Twenty-eight witnesses have been subpoenced by the government, and as far as can be ascertained none have been summoned by the defense. The attorneys for Mrs. Chadwick, J. P. Dawley, Judge Francis J. Wing and Sheidon F. Kerrush, are confident that the government will be unable to prove its case.

The jury is by lawyers considered a good one for Mrs. Chadwick. The evidence against her will naturally relatinged to banks and banking procedure, and there is not a banker or a "business man" among the twelve. Eleven are farmers and one is a real estate dealer.

Shorn-of its legal phraseology, the charge on which Mrs. Chadwick is arraigned is conspiracy against the laws of the United States, the conspiracy as defined by the government resting on the agreement between her and the officials of the Citizens' National Bank of Operagreement between her and the officials of the Citizens' National Bank, of Oberlin, Ohlo, to issue and negotiate certi-fied checks, when she had no money in together, in the course of which eight different checks, amounting in all to $67,000, were certified by Spear and Jeckwith. The evidence will show that when these checks were certified no money was in the bank in the name of Mrs. Chadwick, and no entries to her credit were one the books of the banks."

Mr. Dawley, for Mrs. Chadwick, said: "We expect that the evidence will fail to show that there was any conspiracy between Spear, Beckwith and the defendant. What Beckwith did was as the president of the bank, and without any fraudulent connivance with Mrs. Chadwick. What Spear did was under the direction of Beckwith and was done by him in good faith. He believed that Mrs. Chadwick was wealthy, was worthy of credit to the amount of certified checks, and, believing his, and acting in good faith as he did, he could not have been guilty of corrspiracy, which, by its very nature, implies criminal intent. Beckwith and Spear did not conspire because they acted in good faith, and as they did not conspire, it was not possible for Mrs. Chadwick to conspire with them."

JOCKEY CLUBS AT WAR: TAFT TAKES CONTROL OF PANAMA CANAL ZONE TRACKS MAY BE CLOSED

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Owing to the failure of Congress to provide new legistation for the government of the cannizone, Secretary Taft was confronted with the question as to whether he could continue to administer the affairs of the cannizone. This question he to-day decided in the affirmative. A statement issued by the War Department quotes a Supreme Court decision in the case of civil government installed by the military of California and New Mexico, when Congress failed to provision for its administration, to the effect that the interface from the inaction of Congress was that the government in force was meant to be continued until it had been legistatively changed. Following this precedent, the government of the canniz zone will continue to be administrated according to the law and executive orders now in force, and General Davis has been cabled accordingly.

This action by the stewards means that the struggle for supremacy between the Wystern Jockey Club and the new organization, controlled by Edward Corrigan, is to be a fight to a finish, and in all probability will result in the closhing of Chicago race tracks for this senson at least.

Hawtherne track, which alternates with Harlem during the summer, is now controlled by Corrigan, and any owner, jockey, horse or trainer that takes part in the meeting at the new track at New Orleans, will not be allowed to race on the Chicago tracks still under the jurisdiction of the Western Jockey Club.
